A Letter to the Parents:

I wanted to write to you about the significance of summer camps for youth (& adults).

Summer camps play a vital role in the growth & development of camper's spiritual journeys & in life. Camp displays God's love for us in a unique way that reveals how much detail He puts into loving us & loving us well.

I have seen countless hearts transformed through the gifts summer camps provide. Camps give campers the FREEDOM to be the man/woman they were made to be by giving them space from the demands & expectations of the world. They show campers the JOY our faith can bring us when we trust in the Lord & see all the places He is present in our life. They enable us to live a life of ADVENTURE as we are surrounded by & explore the beauty of creation & the adventure of our everyday life through relationships, wonder, & creativity.

THIS is what Catholic summer camps offer. This is why we have Camp Kateri for youth, because if these campers see that their faith can be a joyful adventure, when the temptations of life try to pull them in, I have witnessed that even if they fall, they don't fall far, because they have seen the joys of a life with Christ rooted in holiness. They realize this life that the world offers isn't all it promises to be. Camp is a place of prevention & planting the seed that shows them "my faith can be my own" & "these missionaries/counselors are holy & close to my age...I can be that!"

"The world offers you comfort. But you were not made for comfort. You were made for greatness." - Pope Benedict XVI

Many people see this quote and focus on the "greatness" part, but what does it mean that we weren't made for comfort? If we weren't made for comfort, then we were made for discomfort. We were made for challenges. We were made to push ourselves to grow to be well rounded, virtuous, courageous, to step out onto the ledge and take the leap of faith to love, serve, and live a life that is not focused on ourselves, but focuses on how we can serve others. In a world so fixated on the love of self, what if we all learned how to love others?

Camp pushes campers to grow in all of these things. It is not as comfortable as home. It pushes them to realize they can do challenging things and they can grow. And maybe, this is what we need right now. We don't need to always be on our phones, in air conditioning, in our own created comfort. We need to go back into the desert away with the Lord. Even Jesus would take time to go into the mountains, to spend time with His Father. To be rooted in His identity that God our Father gave Him. "This is my beloved son with whom I am well pleased."

Please consider sending your children to Camp Kateri this summer. We have been developing our formation and our mission to give these campers the best experience we can offer. We want them to see God in their day to day life. We want them to see the love the Lord has for them in His love shining through our missionaries. We need you to take the leap of faith with your camper. I am praying for you and please pray for us as we prepare for the summer. God bless you,

-Jacob Brouillette
